The Governorship. The contest for Governor waxes warm as the dog-days approach and I would advise gentlemen to keep cool; especially would I advise them to extract the gall from their ink. There has not been one name mentioned in connection with the Governorship who is not every way worthy of the honor of presiding over the destinies of our glorious Old Commonwealth. The brave and indefatigable Mahone, the calm and unobtrusive Terry, the urbane and able Taliaferro, the indomitable and gallant Daniel, the intrepid and dashing Fitz Lee and the chivalrie and tallented Holliday. Is there a Virginian who does not feel proud of these noble men, but among them all is there one superior to the favorite son of the Valley? Not one! Look at his commanding presence, his genial and classic features, whereon is fixed the seal to give assurance of an honest man. From his nonthing the seal to give assurance of an honest man. ance of an honest man. From his youth up a pattern of morality, a model of filial affection and type of the true Christian gentleman. In whose hands could the destinies of State at whose hands could the destines of this time be more safely entrusted? A voice and West.

The 650 p. m., train connects with Ches. & Ohio R. R. westward to Huntington, Cincinnati Ohio R. R. westward to Huntington, Cincinnati the soldier patriot with his armless sleeve, that badge of honor, he stands every inch the peer of his rivals; if we view him as a scholar he is an honor to his grand, illustrious 'Alma Mater,' and a pride to his State; if we view him as a statesman in all his rich, sturdy and ripe expe- p. m. rience, he stands above all his competitors, for the Old Commonwealth can boast of but few such men, and if we view him as a man, he rails compare with the first and best of the land will compare with the first and best of the land, for he is a man among men and a Christian gentleman from plume to spur. We heard him in one of his great efforts in the Tilden canvass; we heard also many others of Virginia's gifted sons on the same issue, and without prejudice or favor, we think now as we thought then, that Holliday's was the only real political speech we heard, and feel sure that every thoughtful mind must have been convinced of his intimate

Every person who heard Col. Holliday during last fall's campaign will remember the gallant bearing, the thrilling eloquence and convincing arguments emanating from the fertile brain of this truly great man. Plain and unobtrusive, firm but truly kind, he will prove when seated in the gubernatorial chair the right man in the right place, and a blessing to our State.
